

FIVE WAYS SCHOOL NURSES REDUCE BULLYING

1

Skilled at screening for bullying behaviors and victimization experiences of students.

2

Experienced in assessing a student's health complaints for potential signs of bullying.

3

Equipped to deal with the physical and emotional effects of violent behaviors including bullying.

4

Proficient in documentation, reporting and referral for services related to bullying.

5

Assesses the school's climate and implements programs, policies and practices to keep all students safe.

Source:
"The Impact of Bullying."
SchoolNurse.com